Whether it's before practice, after a game, before school, or any time we can sneak away, we are stopping at the local fast food franchises. No, we, the Jackets, do not survive on honey, but on "Frosties", pizza turnovers, "Chicken McNuggets", (complete with Astro-cards), "Fudge Brownie Deluxes", "Pan Pizza", and "World Famous Fries".

These fast food restaurants serve not only as the places to eat, but are also where we meet, socialize, and for many of us, where we work. Above is Patty Ramey serving a "Frosty" with a smile.

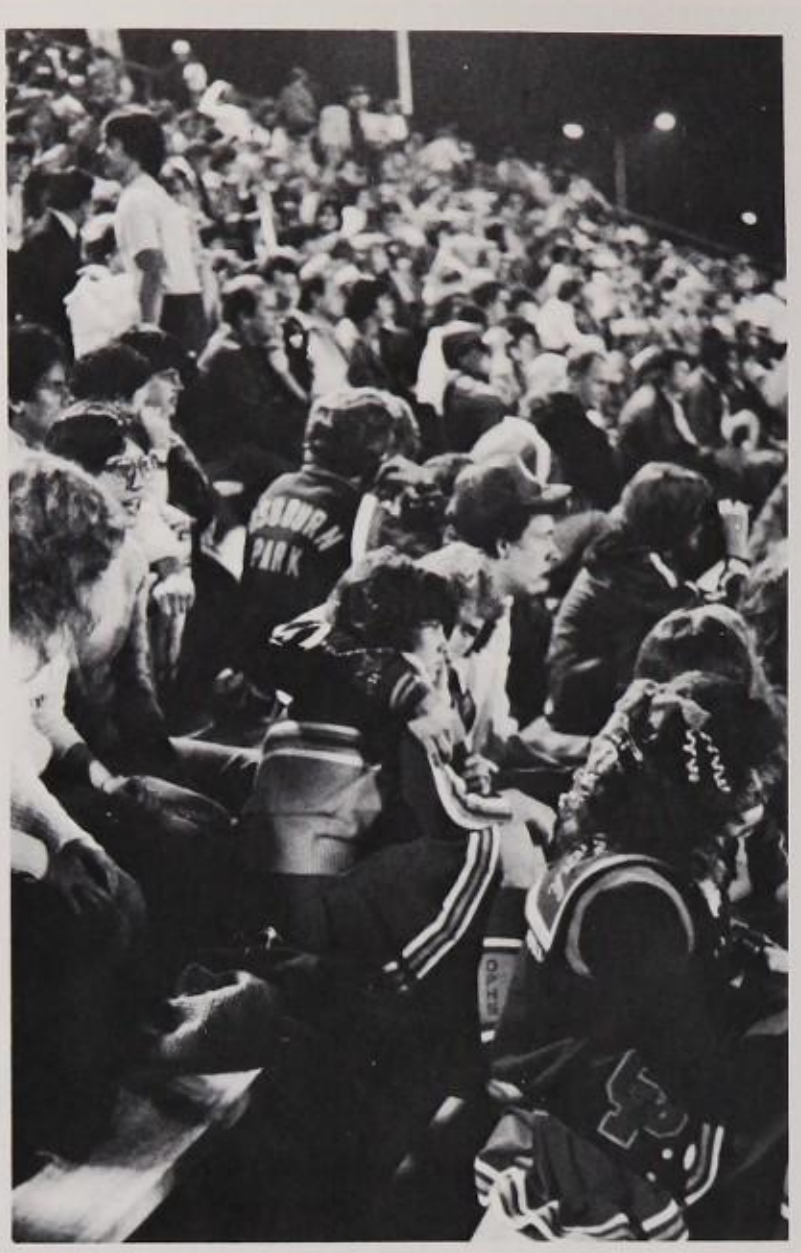
Homecoming

1982

Jackets Sting Judges 24-20



The Jacket crowd watches the game intently.

Flags provide precision entertainment during half-time. Queen Cheryl Crigger receives a kiss of congratulations from Mr. Bailey.

The Senior Float, first place winner, says "Judges Phone Home!"

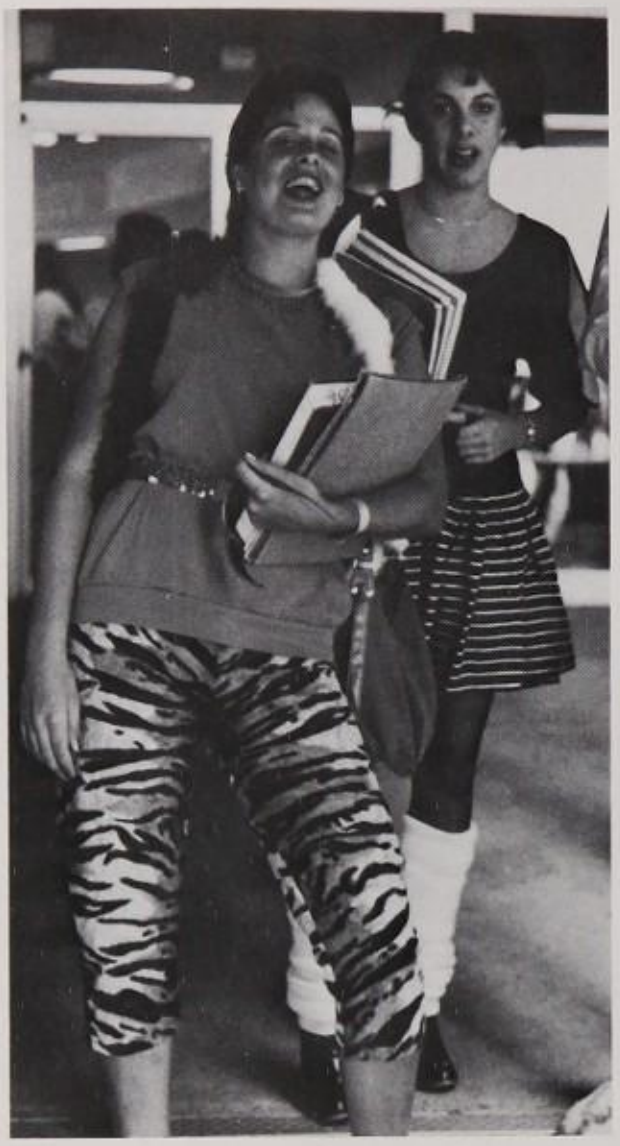
Homecoming week proved to be the finest our school has ever seen. The much awaited Homecoming game was well worth all the anticipation. The Handley Judges had been undefeated until our mighty Jackets stung them good! The final score was 24-20.

The game itself had tense moments, but the spectators were able to sit back, relax, and enjoy the half-time presentation. The first event was the introduction of the princesses. As the candidates and audience waited in suspense, the name of our 1982 Homecoming Queen was announced, Miss Cheryl Crigger was crowned. The queen and her court enjoyed a ride around the track followed by the presentation of the floats. The seniors came in first with their portrayal of "E.T." Second place went to DECA and the Freshman Float placed third. The crowd watched attentively as the Band, Pom-poms, Majorettes, and Flags performed impressively. All in all, the evening proved very successful in bringing everyone together in cheering our team on to victory.

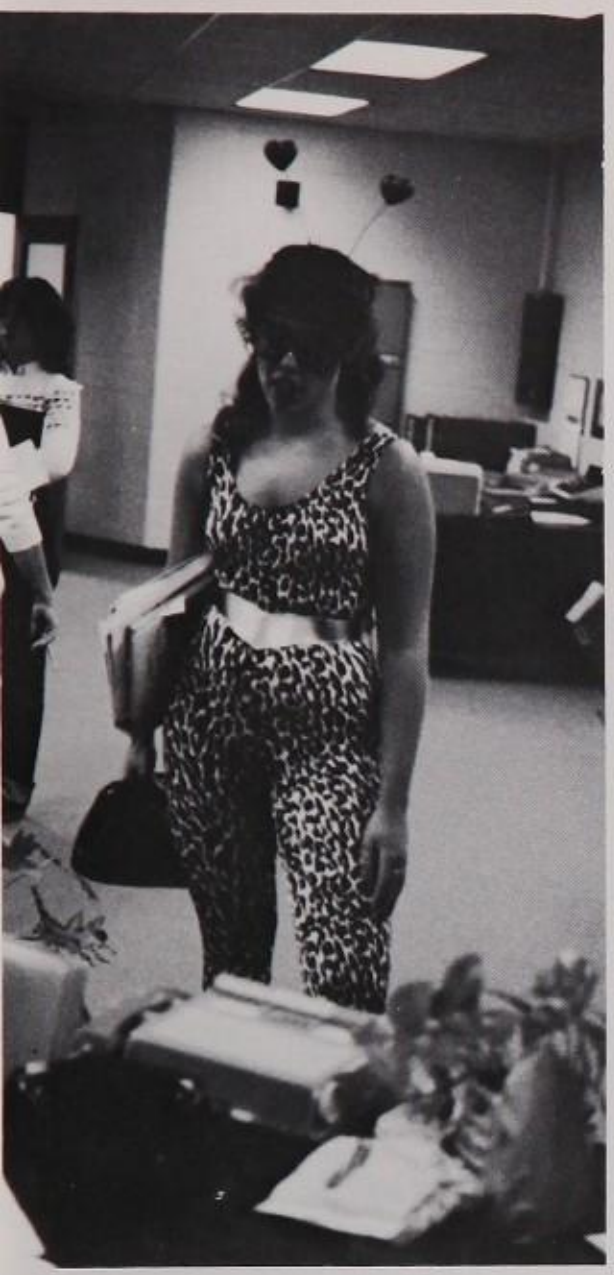
The festivities continued into Saturday night as the Homecoming Dance took place. To our amazement, our school cafeteria had been transformed into a heavenly night skyline. Before the final moments of the dance, the customary slow dance was dedicated to Queen Cheryl Crigger, King Bobby Lambert, and their court. With the close of the dance, Homecoming 1982 became a special memory that will have a place in our hearts forever!

Too flashy or tacky? Not for Abbe Nelson, who exhibits true spirit through tiger-striped knickers.

Soccer fashion — 1982 meets 2182. (Terra Hancock and Lisa Kadel)



Amy Fox and Renée Morgan model "disposable fashions". Spirit Week Hero Mike Massey is ready for anything with his ice cream gun in hand. What does the "C" stand for, Mike? (Right)



Jill Gitten makes a spirited visit to the office.

The perfect administrator?

Inside the classrooms and throughout the hallways, we were bombarded by punk rockers, diddies, space cadets, and Greek gods and goddesses. These characters appeared only due to the imagination of our spirited student body, who created a Spirit Week to remember.

The week started off with "Extremely Day", which proved to be the most popular day of the week. From Tricia Benson's fuschia teddy bear to Mike Massey's toga, everyone was pretty extreme! Punk rockers and "new wave" dressers were very prominant, as well. Although enthusiasm and imagination were wide-spread among the student body, a few students were chosen to receive special awards for their costumes. Senior Rick Hutson won for his "extremely biblical" portrayal of Adam. On "Space Odessey Day", Senior Amy Fox was awarded for her portrayal of 2182 fashion — a garbage bag and a hoola hoop. Traditional "Blue and Gold Day" brought bright spalshes of our school colors to life! Almost all participated by wearing everything from football jerseys to blue and gold hair, nails, faces, and arms. Senior Mary Wood earned special recognition for donning striped leg warmers and her famous blue and gold beanie.

Gangster Kathy Moler holds Barry Crawford hostage.

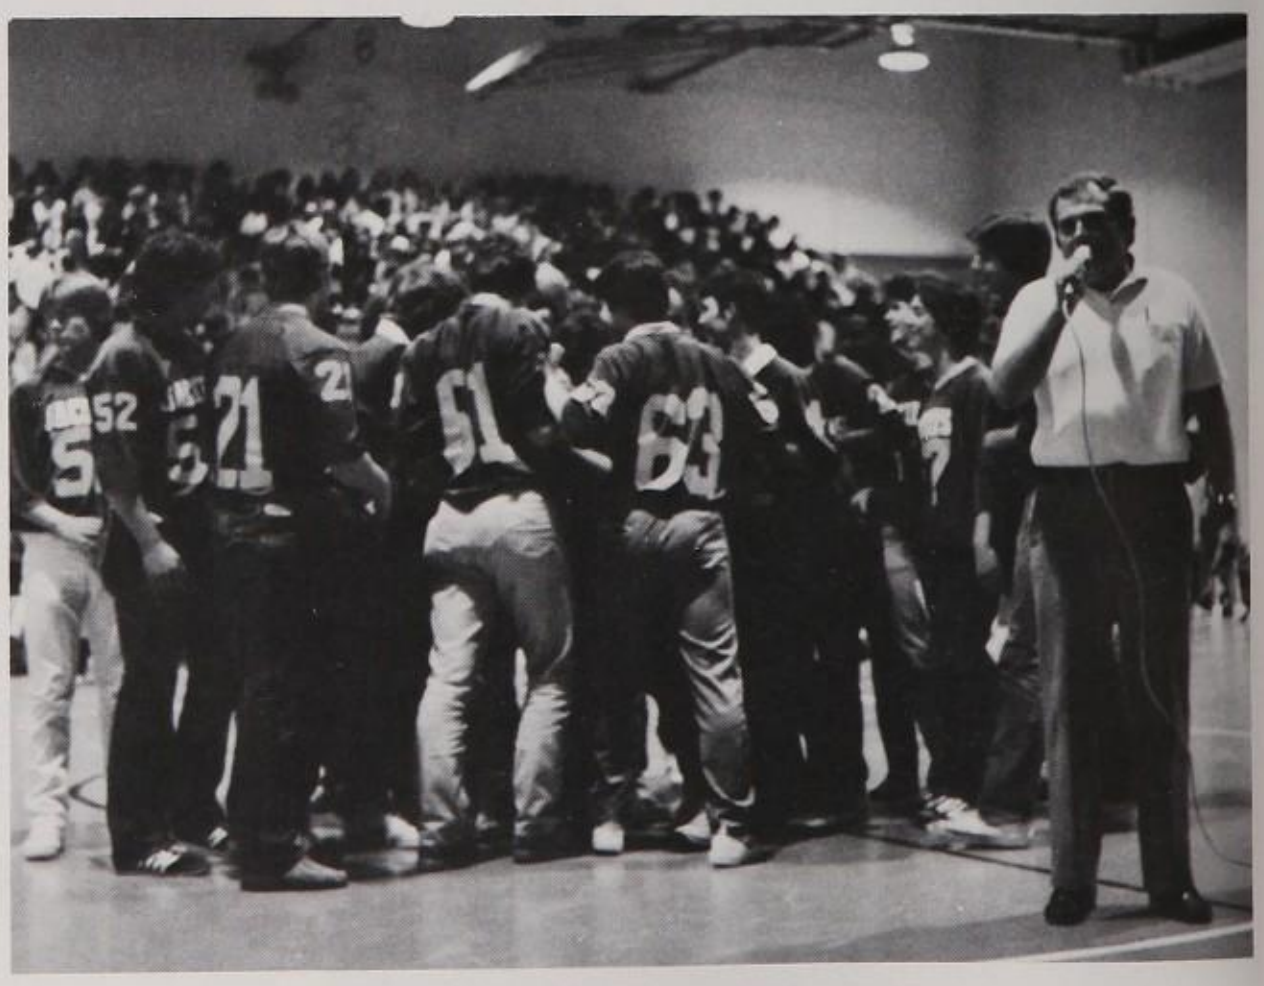
"Eighty-five! Eighty-five! Eighty, eighty, eighty, eighty, eighty-five!" Shouts of pep were almost unheard of by a poor, quiet Senior class. What happened? Had they all lost their voices? Was there a sudden flu epidemic that struck only Seniors? No. The strange noise came from a roaring Sophomore class. Where were the Freshmen? Where were the Juniors? Where were the Seniors? Outnumbered and out-voiced. "It's incredible!" quoted one Senior after the first of the year's pep rallies. Others simply stared in disbelief. Never before to the knowledge of the Class of '83 had such a thing occured. "Sophomores aren't supposed to win a pep rally. Who do they think they are?"

Where were the Seniors? Early release wiped out a major portion of the already too small class. The Seniors put up a valiant effort to make some noise, but their screams and shouts sounded like mere whispers next to the thunderous sound of the Sophomore Class. The Juniors gave a fierce battle, as well, with large letters that spelled out, "Class of 84". But they, too, proved to be no match with over a hundred fewer voices than their up-and-coming arch rivals. Who could compare? Only the Freshmen class had a greater resource than the Sophomores. But they had yet to catch the spirit of the pep rally. The class of '85 learned to look over their shoulders for a future explosion from the Class of '86. For the 1982-83 school year, the Class of '85 shared the glory of the Spirit Stick only among themselves.

Although the success of the underclassmen was looked upon as almost "totally uncool" by the upperclassmen, it did have a great deal to do with the success of the pep rallies. Enthusiastic recognition was given to our much deserving athletic teams as they moved to their courts, fields, courses, and mats to defend our honor against other area schools. According to one school athlete, "A pep rally doesn't make or break your game, but a little noise can do wonders for your morale. It makes you feel you're not alone."



Coach Hornfeck addresses the crowd as the Varsity football team "psychs up" for the game.

. . . Breaking 1000 . . .

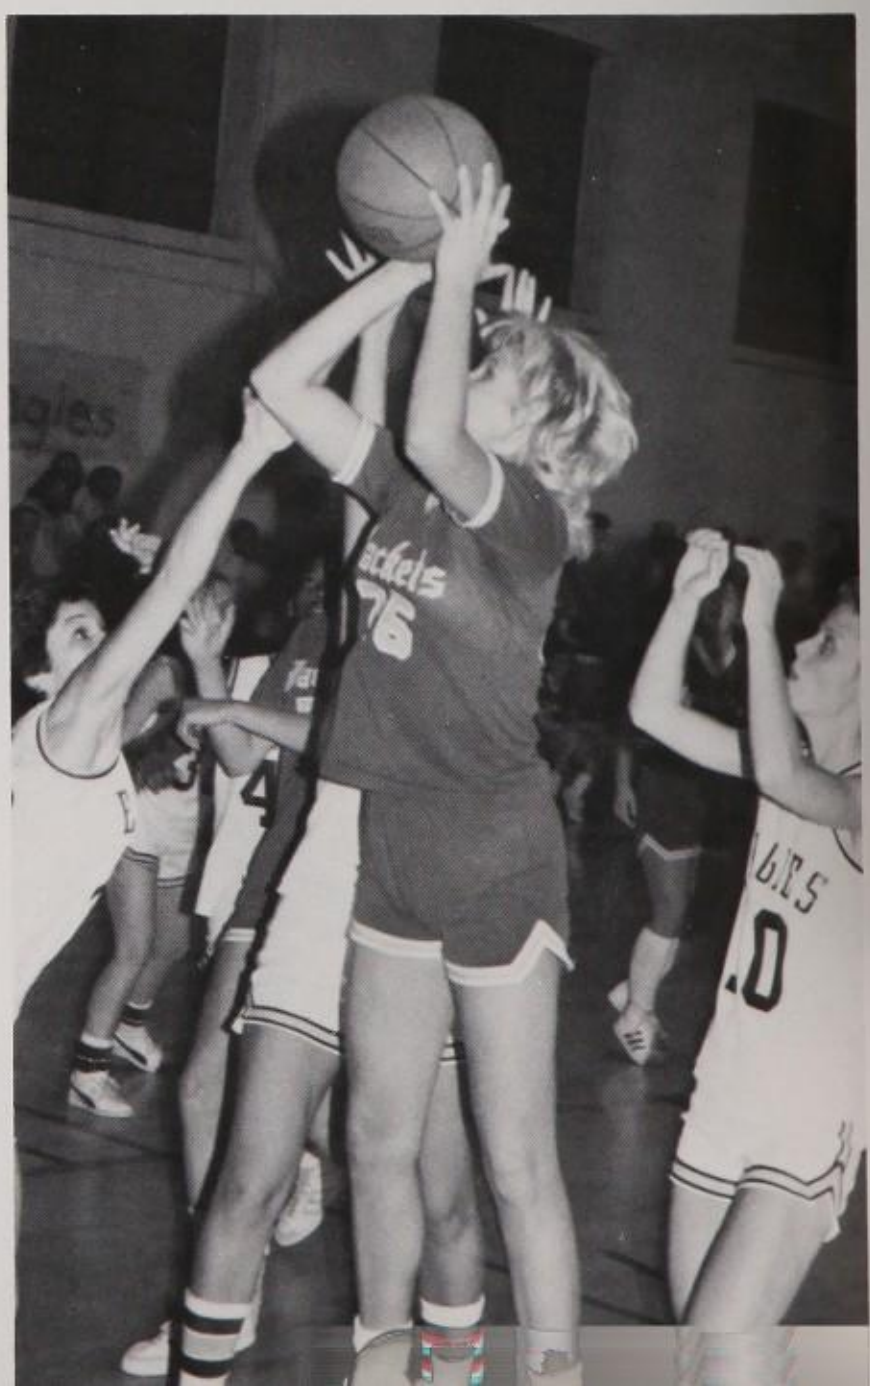
Excited, happy, relieved. That's how Senior Debbie Saffer felt when she achieved her personal goal of a thousand career points in the fourteenth game of the season. The goal was not one to be reached overnight. Debbie worked to develop her basketball skills for years. Summer camps were an excellent opportunity for her to improve. Four years spent playing on the varsity team at school with Coach Ken Krieger had a great impact on her success.

If the Varsity Girls' Basketball season caught the attention of the student body, Debbie Saffer's goal of a thousand career points had us watching intensely. When the goal was finally met, Debbie humbly received our applause of congratulations during assembly.

What would Debbie do once she reached her goal? Her response was not surprising.

"I want to play four more years of basketball in college."

Valerie Robertson prepares to pass.
Ida Adams scores again.



A Goal to be Met

Coach Ken Krieger was finally able to enjoy his first experience with taking a team to the District Title as the Varsity Girls' Basketball team discovered the meaning of being "number one." Suffering only a single loss to Handley, the girls achieved a tremendous 17-1 record. They well avenged this loss, however, by defeating the Judges for the Title.

The nearly perfect season of the Queen Bees caught the attention of the whole of the student body. Mr. Ferrebee's morning announcements congratulating the team for each of their victories became a typical event. Basket after basket led to victory after victory.

Each player had her own "superstition" about what things would make for a winning game, but a District Title is not won by sheer luck. Working hard on both defensive and offensive skills, the girls brought their fine individual talents together, proving to be a lethal combination for their opponents. Many factors contributed to their success, but it was strongly felt by the members of the team that the ability to work together was the key to their success. Moving toward the close of the season, each victory helped to build confidence. The team set their eyes on the District Title. With a continuous flow of effort, encouragement, and persistance, they found that their goal was one to be met.

Success Under Pressure

Dressed in hightops, shorts, and T-shirts, some thirteen girls came back to school early, striving to become members of the Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball team. Coached by "Madame Thompson", the girls who survived cuts worked their way to a fine 11-7 season. The success of the season seemed to be the result of several factors. Coach Thompson stressed scrimmage work in order to develop individual and team skills.

A young team, the girls learned much about the game of basketball. Sophomore Wendy Adams grew to "understand the game better." The team discovered the importance of enthusiam and precision. Adams noted that a lack of spirit and careless errors were apparent in most of the losses.

Still, in all, the season was exciting. Many close games were decided with a final shot in their closing seconds. These wins could be attributed, according to Adams, not merely to luck, but largely to the team's unity, "We were able to work well under pressure."

Led by Coach Chuck Hornfeck the Varsity football team finished their season with a 5-5 record. The team conquered rival Brentsville, then defeated powerhouses Parkview and Homecoming opponent, Handley. From unsung heroes to the leaders of the pack they were a team with great skill.

Andy Pfefferkorn led the ground attack, "the team leader" as said by one of his teammates. Blazing speed was "the key to the team's strength". The Jacket's offensive line was explosive. Mike Null rounded off the offense as quarterback.

The defensive line harassed enemy backs throughout the season. The defensive ends bruised many a quarterback. The hard-hitting defensive backfield roamed the field looking for prey.

David Lucchesi was the Jacket's ever-dependable kicker and Mark Terrell was our booming punter.

The football gear was locked away, but because of its fine season and its fine performers, the team was not to be forgotten.

New Coach Brings Success

With the help of their new coach, Mrs. Christner, many young, inexperienced players grew into a successful soccer team with a 4-9 season. The success was brought about because of the strong devotion to the basic skills of soccer: passing, shooting, and running.

Good Serves Pay Off

The Girls' Volleyball team enters the gym. A whistle blows. The match begins. Maggie Lynn is up to serve. An ace! The crowd goes crazy.

The girls volleyball team worked extremely hard on their serves and it paid off with many victories. This year's team was marked by improvement on offense. This improvement was due to hard work and determination for a successful season. Coach Dougherty gave the team the belief in themselves that they needed to improve and succeed.

. . . PLACING HIGHEST EVER . . .

Lots of hard work and determination paid off for the eleven-member golf team. The squad placed third in the Northwestern District Championship. Sophomore Bobby Shenfish and junior David Russell tied in the championship to become medalists, but unfortunately were defeated in sudden death.

Because the AA golf season was moved from spring to fall, the players had to prepare quickly. The first match of the year was held on the second day of school.

Not including two tournaments the team participated in, the year's record was seven wins and eleven losses.

The most valuable player award was given to junior David Russell. David had the lowest average of all the players and missed only one day of practice.

Coach Bridge felt strongly that the players had the potential to become a "powerhouse" in the district. He added that the boys were "one of the finest group of young people I have worked with at Osbourn Park."

. . . third in the District, third in the Region, seventh in the State . . .

Osbourn Park Cross-Country ran their way to a nine and three record, losing only to Handley and Park View, with Mike Buchanan leading the way. The team placed third in the District, third in the Region, and seventh in the state. The girls Cross-Country team was led by Amy Coddington and Julie Myatt.

Who always delivered in the rain, cold, and wind? The mailman? No. It was our "outdoor" Indoor Track team. These brave track and field athletes spent many hours practicing in inclement weather.

The season was "much better" than in previous years with many more indoor meets. The team had a lot of new talent and extended its participation in field events.

Most of our athletes used the Indoor Track season as a training session for the Spring Track season. One of these athletes was Rick Hutson, who broke the school pole vaulting record at an invitational indoor meet.

No matter where the band was, the Majorettes were always seen leading it. The dedicated members were never caught without a smile. Sponsored by Mrs. Crane, the girls practiced hard to add to the enjoyment of half-time.

. . . A Splash of Color . . .

The Color Guard, led by Kathey Lloyd, worked hard and practiced constantly to show their talent and spirit during half-time at football games. The girls always did their best to successfully add color and spirit to the field.

. . . Getting the Beat . . .

The Pom Poms, captained by Senior Patricia Benson and co-captained by Sophomore Melissa Torbert, focused on the improvement of the squad, and it showed. They definitely "had the beat" as they danced to everything from "Tomorrow" to "Pac Man Fever".

Twelve of the sixteen members attended summer camp, which enabled them to gain experience and learn many new skills. The squad also had new uniforms which they were able to purchase as a result of many fund-raising activities. The girls performed at Freshman Orientation, the Manassas Christmas Parade, the New Dominion School, and home football and basketball games. Special recognition was given to the girls' parents and sponsors Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Piccolo, who devoted much time to helping the squad.

The Pom Poms worked hard together and had fun, proving that being a member of the drill team means more than just learning a routine and perfecting it. It taught its members the meaning of teamwork and showed that friendship and school spirit can make or break a squad.

The Pom Poms add dimension to football games and pep rallies.

. . . Height, Speed, and Agility . . .

Thirteen very individualistic players made up a team with height, speed, and ability. Coach Payne, Coach Callahan, and Coach Romanic tried to mold a team with raw talent and ability into one with precision and skill. The team members described the squad as a "happy family, complete with its own family problems, but still a family." With the help of two new high scoring "big guys", David Robinson and Ken Pryor, our players learned to have fun while ringing up the score.

. . . A Well-Rounded Group . . .

Gymnastics, perhaps the most beautiful of school sports, started its season with a new coach. Ms. Jo Ellen Suter had less than a month to pick the members of the team, but with the help of several veteran members, constructed perhaps one of the finest teams in the Northwestern District. The togetherness and fun times would always be remembered by the team and assistants.

One big sensation of the year was the arrival of Angie Fontana. Although a mid-season injury was a disappointment, Fontana remained active with the team and proved herself. Sophomores Belinda Simmons, Kelly Tasker, and Suzy Sadler returned to give the team the necessary strength to continuously earn high scores. Another big surprise was the turnout by freshmen Pam Posey and Denise DeBord.

Seniors Mary Naughton and Susan Harvey led the team with their mature knowledge of the sport. Their graduation was to be a true loss to the team, but their performances were never to be forgotten.

. . . Ye Singers of Madrigals . . .

The Madrigal Singers loved to perform. If eager listeners couldn't be found in the hallways of school, the group sought audiences at McDonald's, Flip Dizzy's, and area housing developments, charging a performance fee of only free cokes, cookies and applause.

Under the direction of James Council, some twenty singers, three jesters, trumpeters, crumhorn players, and a string quartet took their audiences back to a time long since past — a time of wassail, lords and ladies, Boar's Head, and Songs of Olde. The Christmas Feaste featured a multi-course meal supervised by Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Romanic, and Mrs. Veith. Entertainment included bells, horns, singing, and antics. Through careful planning, hard work, and creativity, the first-floor cafeteria was transformed into a spectacle that captured the spirit of the Renaissance.

"I don't DARE repeat it!"

Brian Burgess' "Thing" doubles as a horse-drawn coach as the singers travel through "The Golden Arches."

. . . Activities . . .

. . . Leadership . . .

Leadership development was the Student Council's primary goal. Members of the Executive Board returned from a workshop at Loudoun Valley High School full of fresh ideas. Committees were formed to explore improvements in the council's efficiency in serving the school. The constitution was re-evaluated, as well as the criteria for choosing Leadership Award recipients. Homecoming procedures were looked at with a critical eye and it was decided that school-wide participation should be increased.

A new twist for the traditional S.C.A. Magazine Drive was tried. The Drive was expanded to allow all participating clubs to share in the profits. Although it had been hoped that the clubs would participate more actively, the Drive was overall very successful.

With leadership development in mind and a healthy treasury, the Council sought ways to encourage student leadership through guest speakers, literature, and other programs. The members decided it was best to invest in something that, if successful, would give students a thing they could keep forever — leadership.

Student Council members are: (Back) Jamy Myatt, Debby Ramey, Bobby Lambert, Debbi Saffer, (Second) Julie Anderson, Susan Jordan, Kelly Darnell, Jennifer Young, (Third) Patti Durham, Becky Smith, Kathi Chirichiello, Jay Barrera, (Front) Andy Rusciolelli, Amy Waldrip, Mrs. Lagos, and Julie Wagner.

Members of the Student Council Executive Board plot and plan upcoming events. Amy Waldrip (President), Julie Anderson (Reporter), Patti Durham (Secretary), Andy Rusciolelli (Vice President), and Julie Wagner (Treasurer).

Adviser Mrs. Lagos works hard to help prepare food at the Student Council's Faculty Breakfast. Eggs, sausage, and biscuits were some of the items served. Other Student Council activities were Freshman Orientation, two after-game dances, student scheduling, the canned food drive, and the Bloodmobile.

. . . Deadlines . . .

If there's one thing the staff of the Yellow Jacket didn't like — it was deadlines. "It's extremely hard to make deadlines," agreed Editor-in-Chief Julie Anderson and Feature Editor Dwayne Moyers.

But despite the staff's aversion to them, the deadlines still came. The staff continued to work with one goal in mind — to achieve the Virginia High School League's Trophy Class Award. Although there was "lot's of pressure" to produce such a paper, a great deal of support was received from the two journalism classes. Other editors, including sports Editor Ida Adams, News Editor Rob Russell, and Photography Editor Mike Cope, worked hard to complete deadlines with quality material. Layouts proved to be a large problem. Advertising Manager Trina Wiltshire also found it hard at times to raise money through selling ads.

The Yellow Jacket staff put forth a diligent effort to produce a fine paper. Whether they acheived their goal of a Trophy Class Award had yet to be decided at the production of the last issue of the year, but the staff gained valuable experience learning to be "self-supporting" and "totally independent" and to "rely upon (their) own enthusiasm." The Yellow Jacket staff attributed their success to their ability to work as a team. They felt they were able to do this because the staff members could cooperate and had many "common interests" which made them "one big happy family."

Diary of a Tired Yearbook Editor

February 10, 1983 — 3:02 A.M.

I close the last copy envelope. We made our final deadline, shocking as it seems. I look around at the paper, various articles of clothing, pictures, twenty-odd empty "Tab" cans, more paper, 8-track tapes, our typewriter (with four broken keys), more pictures, McDonald's catsup packages, camera gear, and even more paper. The sounds of the last six months seem to echo off of the walls of the 4' by 6' yearbook office. "How do you spell . . . ?" "Where's a black pen?" "Does anyone know who this is?" "Where's the picture of . . ." SLURP! (The Black Hole strikes again.) " . . . baby, we were born to run?" Click, Click, "#@," Click "#%&@." "Where are the basketball pictures?" "Has anyone seen the French Club copy?"

Now as it's all done I can sit back and relax with the one hope that all our work and worry will be for something and this book will turn out all right.

Catch That Candle!

Whether it was trying to catch a falling candle or to salvage burned cookies, the members of the National Honor Society were always kept on their toes.

"Alright, where were you at the last meeting?"

"Don't forget to turn in pin money and volunteer forms".

Some very enthusiastic new inductees were responsible for a successful and productive year. Some of the activities participated in were bake sales. The funds raised were needed for scholarships given out at the end of the year. The Society also participated in the canned food drive for the Salvation Army at Christmas and researched area volunteer programs for individual members who wished to participate in community volunteer work. The group made greater community service their goal for the year.

The five candles symbolize the main principles of the National Honor Society: Knowledge, Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service.

New members recite the chapter's pledge.

. . . Busy, but Happy . . .

As three "felines," complete with whiskers, tails, and manes, waddled past the main office, an unidentified freshman exclaimed, "Hey, look at them! What are they dressed up for?"

His older sister, who was standing nearby, shot him a dirty look. "Today's Lionette initiations!" The embarrassed boy replied, "Well . . . what's a Lionette?"

For him, and anyone else who doesn't know, the Lionettes is a group of senior and junior girls dedicated to helping their community. Their activity for the year was more visible and more successful than it had been in the past. The annual Spirit Link contest, benefitting the Lion's Club Eye Bank, raised twice as much money in contributions than usual. The Lionettes also had much success with their "Mr. Turkey" drive, which raised money for the Red Cross's needy area families. The club also established involvement with the Lionesses Open House. These and other activities kept all the girls "busy, but happy"!

The Lionettes were rewarded for their hard work with a dinner at La Chapelle from the Lions Club. (Kathy Noble and Renée Morgan)

. . . Kiwanis' Little Helpers . . .

The Key Club began working early by serving as guides at Freshman Orientation. "Parents' Night" and "College Night" saw the Keys busy again. Working hand-in-hand with the Manassas Kiwanis Club, the Keys sold tickets to the Kiwanis' Manassas Holiday Classics. They also sold refreshments at the Drama Society's production of "The Cycle of Life."

. . . An Active Group . . .

What do Varsity athletes do when they are not driving, passing, or scoring? Many participate in planning school activities through the Varsity Club. The club devotes its time to organizing the Powder-Puff football game played between the Junior and Senior girls and their lovely (?) male cheerleaders. The club also planned for a re-match Powder-Puff game, a Student-Faculty basketball game, and to give over-acheiving athletes more impressive letters.

Sponsored by Mrs. Thompson and aided by the four talented officers (Renée Morgan — President; Claire Sensel — Vice President; Kim Korpics — Secretary; Kelly Tasker — Treasurer), the French Club offered students a chance to learn more about the French language and culture. The group started the year by wishing the faculty "Joyeux Noel!" with French Christmas cards. We continued to learn about the French culture with a Mardi Gras celebration complete with costumes and traditional French dishes. The club also observed Foreign Language Week and corresponded with French pen pals. The French Club gave its many members a fantastic background in French culture and traditions. The members all agreed that it had been a "bonne année."

Dedication

From 1980 to 1983, Mr. Robert Ferrebee acted as our assistant principal. During these years he became a familiar sight to everyone at Osbourn Park. In January, 1983, Mr. Ferrebee left to become principal of Potomac High School. The system continued to operate after his departure just as it had before, but his many contributions to our school will always be remembered by those who got to know him.

The Hi-Jacket staff has therefore decided to dedicate this book to Mr. Robert Ferrebee with warmest memories and deepest regards.

Mr. Ferrebee smiles as the day finally comes to an end.

A show of school spirit.

Taking time to talk with students in his office.
